In Edmonton for the opening legislative session on gas export from Alberta, Mr. Dixon said that oil discovery here has caused more interest than any development in the States for years.

His company is prepared to build a pipeline from Alberta through Spokane to Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, at a cost of $100,000,000.

Accompanying Mr. Dixon is R. W. Wilson, Los Angeles, Pacific Petroleum and Engineers Ltd., and F. W. Copp, New York, North West Natural Gas Company.

City to Have New System For Long Distance Calls

First installation in Canada of an automatic toll board permitting swift relay of long distance telephone calls to and from Edmonton will get underway the end of this month.

H. W. Wanstanley, Winnipeg, president of Siemens Company, is in Edmonton today with W. E. Humphries, director of the company from London, Eng. Factory headquarters of Siemens, manufacturers of telephone equipment, is in London, with Canadian headquarters at Winnipeg.

Equipment for the new Edmonton exchange is en route now; they said, and installation should be complete by January or February.

CORDS OBSOLETE

With the new exchange, operators in Edmonton and surrounding areas may make long-distance calls without recourse first to the long distance operator in the home.

Some 30 telephone offices around Edmonton will have facilities for dialing Edmonton parties direct without first calling the operator here.

New system consists of about 40 operating positions. It does away with cords, operators simply punch connecting keys.

W. Ferguson, deputy minister of telephones, would not estimate the cost of the new equipment but said total cost of the building plus new Official reports signed by Viscount Alexander's personal secretary said his party would not reach Edmonton.

BELGRADE, July 4.—(AP)—The evening newspaper Glas charged Saturday that some 200 Yugoslav citizens in eastern Germany have been prevented by Russian occupation authorities from returning home.

Questions Continue In $100,000 Suit Here

Reading from examinations-for-discovery of four defendants took up morning session today of $100,000 suit against directors and former directors of Alberta Oxygen and Acetylene Co.

The examinations-question and answer testimony prepared before the opening of the hearing-were submitted as evidence by the plaintiff.

Plaintiff Frank W. Schmuck, who is seeking to be reinstated as president and chairman of the Edmonton firm, was on the witness stand for a few minutes today as his counsel, Neil D. Maclean, KC, wound up re-examination.

Mr. Maclean and his law partner, Frank Dunn, read from examinations-for-discovery of Robert Winslow Hamilton, M. R. Milner, L. A. Cavanaugh and Aden Bowman, all defendants.

Mr. Hamilton, according to his examination, had been of the opinion that Mr. Schmuck would be retained "in charge of active operations" if and when groups headed by himself and Mr. Milner took over company shares held by Mr. Bowman and Mr. Cavanaugh.

Mr. Hamilton had admitted in his examination that new directors of the company had "disagreed completely" with Mr. Schmuck's treatment of a contract with Bowman Bros. of Saskatoon.

ONLY REASON

Mr. Milner's examination revealed he had become associated with the company only after constant pressure from Mr. Schmuck and reports from Mr. Hamilton that the company looked like "a reasonably sound financial venture."

"I've always been interested in starting up new industry in this part of the country," Mr. Milner's examination continued.

Mr. Cavanaugh's examination revealed that he and Mr. Bowman had accepted an offer of "about $10,000" from Mr. Schmuck on the condition that the controversial Bowman contract be cancelled.

He has answered the question, "Did you think your shares were bought on behalf of Schmuck?" with a "No."

Hearing continued this afternoon.

Draws Fine

Five Albertans Get Air Cadet Awards

Calcutting months of selection, the Air Cadet League of Canada today announced the names of the 50 "luckiest" air cadets in the Dominion.

They are the ones chosen of 15,000 to represent Canada in this summer's exchange flights among the Dominion, the United Kingdom and the United States.

The 50, selected on a merit basis, represent every province except Newfoundland. A list selected to represent Canada's newest province is expected to be announced shortly.

Five Albertans are among the lucky 50. They are Harry J. Noble, Ponoka, and Eugene Pehovich, Mundare, (U.K.); J. Allen Adair, Hinton, (U.S.); E. Kilik Olds, Gordon A. Kometz, Lethbridge, (U.S.).

GOOD-WILL
The exchange scheme is designed to build good-will between the young airmen of the three countries. While Canada's cadets are on tour in the U.K. and the U.S., similar groups from these countries will be entertained by the League in Canada.

Texas and California will be the scene of the U.S. tour by 26 young Canadians. They will fly to Texas in late July, spend a week in California and visit west coast holiday centres, returning to their homes in mid-August.

The remaining 25 will fly the Atlantic for three weeks of sight-seeing in the U.K. Their itinerary

Fisher was returning to Smith with a truck-load of baseball players when he lost control of the truck.

His mother, Mrs. Ella Fisher, lives in Nova Scotia.

Leading Aircraftman Wilbur Wright was slightly injured in the crash. No other injuries were reported.

The camel was one of the first animals to be domesticated.

Well-known Winnipeg merchant, MacLeads Ltd., today took out a permit for $65,000 covering the erection of a store building at 1032-34 101 Street as the site for its Edmonton store. Martland and Aberdeen are architects and Prudham Construction Co. Ltd., the contractor on the project.

The first regular English parliament, composed of the clergy, barons and knights, was presided over by Edward I in 1295.

Holland has a tax on all Christian names after the first one.

Accident occurred about 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Passenger in the truck, Stanley Kufry, of Hinton, escaped injuries. Kufry required several stitches and some grafting to his right forearm. Police said the northbound truck sideswiped and damaged 15 posts which border the east shoulder of the road. The truck turned over 115 feet from the first post which it struck. The axle and front wheels were thrown 10 feet clear of the truck.

Mr. Salmon told police a southbound car driving in the centre of the road forced Kufry to the extreme east side of the highway. The front portion of the truck was badly damaged.

Promoting Dental Health

When the new government of Prime Minister St. Laurent comes to give a position of dental health to the able health policy laid down by the Hon. Paul Martin, some stringent measures with regard to public education in dental health should be considered.

The Canadian people are being taught invaluable facts about cancer and tuberculosis and heart disease. Huge sums of money have been allocated by the federal government for research in these and other diseases.

But there is more utter ignorance about the simplest facts of dental health than almost anything else.

The old elementary hygiene used to teach that if children washed their teeth regularly and avoided too many sweets, they would have a healthy mouth up to a ripe old age.

It was incomplete advice because teeth continued to go bad with the most diligent cleaning.

As a matter of fact, dental chemistry has advanced to a point today, particularly in the light of research at the University of Illinois, where certain mouth washes and chemicals in dentifrices have almost solved the problem of caries—decay induced by food fragment.

Diplomatic Immunity Under Review

So many representatives of foreign countries in Canada have been tearing around in their cars like wild men that the department of external affairs is about to review the whole practice of "diplomatic immunity."

It is just about time. "Diplomatic immunity," which means that diplomats accredited to a foreign country cannot be arrested and charged with a crime in the country to which they are sent, is based on the theory that an embassy is literally the soil of the country it represents.

Therefore, diplomats are not really abroad at all. For that reason, only the law of their own country should apply to them.

The whole thing is a fallacy because young men in embassy jobs who dash

So that modern dentistry recognizes the fact that the fundamental problem of dental health, outside of specialized infections and calcium lack in the body, boils down to what is known professionally as the "bite."

The "bite" is the manner in which the upper teeth and the lower teeth come together.

If they all come together evenly, they all do their share of the work. If they come together unevenly, two, four or six teeth do all the work and wear out accordingly.

Thus, if children are sent to the dentist early in life to have the "bite" adjusted, nine-tenths of their dental troubles will be over. If their first teeth are properly cared for, the second set will come in evenly and healthily.

The dental health of Canada, then, depends upon a complete public knowledge of this and other basic facts of modern dentistry.

The government of Canada owes it to the Canadian people that the public should know, understand and appreciate the importance of these primary facts.

A great campaign to emphasize them to everybody would perform a tremendous service to the dental health of this country.

widely through the Canadian countryside with impunity would be arrested and jailed if they dared to do the same thing in their own countries.

Furthermore, the "diplomatic immunity" convention is unjust and one-sided because while neither a Canadian citizen nor a Canadian government may invoke Canadian law against foreign diplomats, the foreign diplomat himself may invoke Canadian law against Canadians.

And when it involves a threat to Canadian lives, particularly to the lives of children in small Ontario towns where these speed merchants love to perform, it is about time this was revised.

Canadian dignity should not permit even foreign diplomats to menace the lives of Canadian children.

Philharmonic Makes New Plans

With the appointment of Edgar Williams as resident conductor and the formation of a committee of some of the city's best known musicians to choose programs, the Edmonton Philharmonic is taking every possible step to assure the high musical level of its concerts.

The Philharmonic thus demonstrates itself to be a lively and enterprising organization intent upon constant improvement and upon giving this city the best in musical program.

This enterprise and enthusiasm on the part of the society surely calls for the utmost in support from the public.

It is traditional that musical organizations of this kind are always hard up. But the Philharmonic need not be hard up if Edmonton citizens offer financial assistance commensurate with the effort the society itself is putting into its work.

The Philharmonic provides something very essential and very precious in the life of a growing city.

It brings to Edmonton people the finest in music produced by Edmonton's own musicians.

Both civic pride and cultural advantage demand that the Philharmonic be supported more generously this coming season than ever before.

Now that the Chamber of Commerce is opening the question of a full department into the entire garbage situation would seem to be in order.

Discrepancies in Garbage System

Just why Edmonton business firms should suffer a 700 percent increase in the cost of having their "commercial trade waste" or garbage, in plain language, hauled away is to be investigated by the civic affairs committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

The investigation is timely and necessary.

Land Problem of Italy Retards Recovery There

ROME—The director of ECLA in Italy, Mr. Zellerbach, will tell you that land reform is the country started with Henry IV and ends with ECLA.

Actually, it proposed an ancient Italian republic and empire whose were re-created in the land of peasants and bankrupted the farmers, by giving away a vast estate to a few nobles.

None of these schemes has been successful. Italy has been a land of poverty and backwardness for centuries.

There is no noticeable way of giving all land-hungry Italians viable small holdings.

Italy has many thousands of small landholders. In Tuscany and Central Italy a system of common, under which seasons are furnished with land, machinery, implements, etc., with the landowner paying the labor and taking 50 per cent of the crop.

In the South—in the "boon" and in Sicily and Sardinia—there are vast estates where only a few labor and, on these, conditions are usually bad and often appalling.

These conditions have inspired attacks with violence and without.

Kind To Animals

Editor, Bulletin—It was with great pleasure that I read in your paper about the rescue of a wee kitten by Vic Strum.

I guess some people will say what a lot of fuss over a kitten, but after all animals are all God's creatures and a young man who would almost risk his life for one, think what he would do for a human being.

A man who is kind to animals will be far better in his relations with his fellow humans.

Silly Clothes Invite Heat Ills

Editor, Bulletin—For several years there have been sporadic attempts on the part of "sensible dress crusaders" to get men to wear more reasonable clothes in the summertime. A heat wave such as the one we are now experiencing would inevitably result in a news picture of a bold fellow strolling through a downtown street in shorts and sandals and wearing a solar loupee.

It would be hard to say that he "looks like next year" such dress would be commonplace.

But here's another heat wave and what do we see? We see the same silly men walking around their necks and usually wearing hot felt hats. There don't even seem to be as many straw hats as there were.

We women know better. We might be criticized for wearing too little in the winter time but in the summer we use our heads and dress in cool, loose garments—at least most of us. Those of us who haven't got the figure to bind ourselves up to some extent, but the average woman is still a whole lot cooler than the average man.

Possible the figure in question is the one that divides the issue with men, too. Who knows how many knobby knees and skinny shoulders those heavy suitings cost.

More About Housing

Editor, Bulletin—More about housing, one of Canada's major problems and here's a suggestion that comes from Madras no less. It's worth considering at any rate.

A new township known as Gandhinagar, built by the Madras Housing Society, has been opened.

The township is a self-contained neighborhood unit with all usual amenities such as paved roads, parks, a swimming pool, a school, shopping centres, a post office, a cinema and a child welfare centre.

Out of 541 houses about 100 have been completed. The remaining will be ready by September.

A similar scheme called "houses for all" has been taken up by the West Bengal government to provide accommodation for poor and middle class families in Calcutta. The scheme is divided into three parts according to income groups and construction work on five blocks of buildings has already been started.

Must we learn from Madras? SEEKER

Against Means Test

Editor, Bulletin—Trade within our own country would be greatly stimulated if the means test for old age pensioners was removed.

Millions of dollars the pensioners have held in banks would be removed and put into circulation.

Elderly people who have been thrifty all their lives would spend the money if they were given a pension without restrictions and allowed to work if they wanted to.

A curious little man sat next to an elderly, prosperous-looking man in a smoking car.

"How many people work in your office?" he asked.

"Oh," responded the elderly man, getting up and throwing away his cigar, "I should say at a rough guess about two-thirds of them."

The question of how far the democracies should go in establishing trade with the Russian bloc is a subject of anxious discussion on both sides of the Atlantic.

It becomes doubly important when considered in connection with such statements as that by Miklos Nyaradi, former Hungarian finance minister, who states in an article in the Saturday Evening Post that Russia and her satellites have a military timetable which calls for readiness for war by 1952.

Simultaneously from the other side the war material, that the Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung has his "road" between Communism and capitalism but it is a genuine road, that there is no road to operate with capitalism so that China can achieve maximum production.

Servicemen's Vote Goes to Liberals

60 Per Cent of Armed Forces Personnel Backs St. Laurent

OTTAWA, July 4.—(CP)—Members of the armed forces who voted in the June 27 general federal election cast 60 per cent of their ballots in favor of the Liberal party.

Members of the permanent force, or reserve army, in camp and veterans in military hospitals were given an opportunity to vote from June 25 to the candidates in their home constituencies.

A total of 22,714 ballots were cast, including 743 that were spoiled and rejected. The Liberals were given 13,797 of the votes, the Progressive Conservatives 5,316, the C.C.F. 2,294 and the Social Credit 369.

Other groups, including the Communists, Labor Progressive party and various independents, formed 198 votes.

The Labor Progressive party's total soldier vote was 32. The returns indicated that only slightly more than 50 per cent of the armed service personnel entitled to vote made use of the ballot. It is estimated that about 40,000 qualified for the vote, but the ballot boxes contained only 22,714 votes.

However, it is possible that some of those at summer training camps returned home in time to vote as civilians.

U.S. or U. K. Arms For Canada Debated

MANCHESTER, England, July 4.—(Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian says today that unless a way can be found for Britain, the United States and Canada to walk in step, "Canadians will have every excuse for turning south rather than east for standard armaments."

In an editorial, the Liberal newspaper discusses a series of articles which appear in the Winnipeg Free Press on whether the Canadian armed forces ought to be equipped with British or United States type equipment.

The series brings to light "with considerable astuteness a dilemma which this country no less than Canada will have to resolve," the Guardian says.

The paper adds: "Most senior British officers agree with our admirable war department equipment, would bitterly oppose any proposal towards a standardization of arms common to all signatories of the Atlantic Pact, if this might mean that at least five items out of 10 would have to follow an American rather than a British model."

MISS REPLACEMENTS "Against this unless we are careful, we may shortly find ourselves alone out of the western union countries are cut off from wartime replacements of armaments from the United States. That could be the price of clinging to our own type of weapons."

"In our present plight neither Britain nor Canada make the drastic change of policy which would involve an intolerable expense. In the case of most new weapons and types of equipment, however, and as many old ones as possible, it is essential that Britain, the United States and Canada should walk in step."

U. K. Planes World's Best

LONDON, July 4.—(Reuters)—Britain's fighter planes are still ahead of the world, Air Marshal Sir Basil Kenty, chief of Britain's fighter command, said last night.

Sir Basil was summing up "exercises" of the RAF maneuvers which have tested Britain's air defenses in the last two weeks and which ended yesterday.

"I see no reason why we should not keep the lead," he added. "We have got to keep abreast with developments but we will not put everything in the shop window."

Sir Basil's remarks followed Nature's report that the controllers of "exercises" believe they were well on the way towards solving any future threat from enemy high altitude jet bombers flying over the speed of sound.

At a recent four-day palaver, Tshikedi and 40 minor chiefs turned thumbs down on a white consort for their chief. But Seretse, who has been studying law himself at Oxford and had raised 6,000 representatives of his 100,000 tribesmen and was upheld by a vote of 100 to 1 of the surrounding hills.

Union Shows Concern

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 4.—(AP)—The fact over whether the Bamangwato tribe in Bechuanaland will have a white queen is growing and growing.

The British government, which governs Bechuanaland, professes not to give the final decision and doesn't relish the job. The Union of South Africa, immediately south of Bechuanaland and with a mixed population more colored than white, is steamed up over whether Seretse Khama, chief-delegate of the Bamangwato, will reign with his white bride, London type Ruth Williams.

Moscow Throngs Pay Tribute to Dimitrov

MOSCOW, July 4.—(CP)—The body of Prime Minister Georgi Dimitrov of Bulgaria yesterday was borne in solemn procession through the thronging streets of Moscow on its way to Sofia.

The 60-year-old veteran Communist leader died Saturday in a Moscow sanatorium from diabetes and liver trouble. He came to Russia in April for treatment.

GREAT RED TRIBUTE Dimitrov's death called forth the greatest outpourings of official Soviet tribute since the funeral of Andrei Zhdanov nearly a year ago. Zhdanov was considered one of the two or three most powerful figures in Russia.

Prime Minister Stalin of Russia and leaders of the Russian government and Communist party stood by the bier during the night at part of an honor guard.

The Bulgarian cabinet ordered country-wide mourning. Thousands of black flags draped portraits of the lifelong revolutionary who headed the Communist government since 1945. Black-bordered newspapers devoted nearly all their space to his obituary.

DEATH OF DIMITROV Dimitrov, a close friend of Stalin, had been called the most influential Communist outside Russia. Much of his life had been spent in exile. When the Soviet army consolidated its occupation of Bulgaria in March 1945, he returned after an absence of 22 years. He became premier Nov. 23, 1946. Last April he was given a leave to undergo treatment in Russia.

The swarthy Dimitrov, with bushy eyebrows and a heavy black mustache, was exiled from Bulgaria for 22 years because of his early Communist activities. He remained an obscure figure until 1933 when the Hitler clique in Germany accused him of engineering the Reichstag fire conspiracy.

New Treatment Defeats Dreaded Arab Disease

By Gibson Cowan

TEL AVIV, July 5.—(Reuters)—Behind the arrival of a score of roosebuds at the house of a British doctor in Aden once a year is the story of one man's lone fight against tuberculosis among the Arabs.

Not so long ago, the Arabs and even British doctors regarded it as impossible to cure an Arab who fell victim to the deadly "ill"—as the Arabs call it.

Today, in a hospital here on the edge of the desert, Arab patients fill 100 beds and a further 300 are being given "home treatment."

Patients have come from as far as British and French Somaliland, spending their 10 pence on their passage by desert. Love Arab women have allowed themselves to be examined by the male doctor.

BRITISH DOCTOR "All this is due to the refusal of one man who asks that his name shall not be disclosed, a British doctor in Aden to accept the popular belief that the Arab is more susceptible than others to the disease."

Now, arrived in Aden after having worked on the TB cases not only in Britain, but in British Guiana and North Borneo, the doctor decided that the high rate of the disease in Yemen and Aden was due to adverse environment and not to racial lack of resistance. He prepared a few beds in the Aden general hospital and brought six tubercular Arabs in for treatment.

Although various forms of collapse therapy were used, most of the six were not advanced far enough to accept treatment. Results were not particularly favorable, but the doctor had a chance of studying the Arab's reaction to the disease.

DETERMINED PATIENT He began to consider a new method of treatment. Then, one evening in 1946 he was informed that an Arab had arrived,

Martells Do It Again In Eaton Play

The "birdie happy" Martelli brothers, Henry and Burns, yesterday turned in their third successful defence of the Eaton golf challenge trophy this season when they dethroned the Jennings' brothers, Ken and Brian, 4 and 2 at the Highlands.

They played the round out and Henry's card showed a four-under par 68, despite two bogies. He birdied six holes. Ken Jennings wound up with a one-under par 69 while Brian Jennings had a 73. Burns Martelli picked up on two holes and didn't have a complete card although he was close to par for the route.

Highland's pro Henry Martelli and his sister, pure brother, started their assault on par early, capturing the first hole with a birdie. They went two up on the third hole with a birdie and then played all square through the 19th with their opponents.

The Martelli went three up on the 11th hole with yet another birdie. Burns won the next hole, 12th, was halved in birdies before the Martelli captured the 14th and 15th by skipping one under regulation figure at each green.

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—Blonde Louise Brough retained two Wimbledon tennis titles Saturday and barely missed another in one of the greatest marathon performances by a woman in the history of big-time tennis.

In five hours and 20 minutes on the sunswep centre court, she captured the singles and shared ladies' doubles honors but lost the mixed doubles in partnership with Jack Bromwich of Australia.

The well-built Miss from Beverly Hills, Calif., opened finals day with a victory over her chum, Mrs. Margaret Osborne of Port of Bellevue, Del., 16-8, 14-6.

PARKER-GONZALES WIN

Parker and Gonzales both won the men's doubles, won by Frank Parker and Pancho Gonzales of the United States who returned as a partner of Mrs. Dupont to defeat Gertrude (Gussie) Moran of San Francisco, Calif., and Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., 6-6, 7-3.

Sun was setting but officials allowed the "Iron Woman" a 15-minute intermission before her mixed doubles.

Against fresh opponents, Eric Sturgess and Mrs. Sheila Supper of South Africa, she and the ambidextrous Bromwich showed in a thriller, 9-7, 9-11, 7-5.

PLAYS 117 GAMES

Altogether she played 117 games and, until the fog end, Miss Brough was leading the men's singles and hitting the corners of the court like a sniper.

Last year Miss Brough won the "pat trick"—as Billions call it—by winning all three titles.

Parker and Gonzales both from Los Angeles, overcame Ted Schroeder of La Cressa, Calif., who captured the men's singles Friday, and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Brough joined Schroeder in giving America a virtual monopoly on the British court championships.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint smudges, characteristic of old paper. The left edge of the page is bound, showing the stitching and the inner cover material. The overall tone is warm and slightly yellowed, suggesting the age of the document.
